June 2, 2018 | We welcome your contributions to the newly established Debra Mattson Infectious Disease Research Award—in honor of Deb’s care for thousands of patients and her integral role in the Infectious Disease Consult Service.

Deb Mattson retired in May 2018 after an incomparable 30-year career as a Physician Assistant at Fred Hutch and SCCA. This story by Fred Hutch’s Mary Engel, provides a glimpse into what Deb meant to our program, her team, and the patients she served.

The Debra Mattson Infectious Disease Research Award is an annual award to be presented to a student, nurse, APP, fellow, or junior faculty member who presents the best paper/abstract on improving the diagnosis, prevention and treatment of infections in immunocompromised cancer patients.
